Supporting Calgary's Community Associations

This month, Council unanimously approved my Notice of Motion aimed at strengthening support for Calgary's community associations. The motion will explore new opportunities to enhance community association infrastructure, long-term sustainability, and fundraising capacity.

A key focus is examining ways to improve access to charitable donation and tax receipt mechanisms, which could help unlock new funding opportunities for facility upgrades, capital projects, community programs, and neighbourhood improvements.

Community associations are the backbone of many Calgary neighbourhoods, powered by dedicated volunteers who work tirelessly to bring people together. I'm grateful for Council's unanimous support as we look at new ways to help these organizations continue serving residents and building strong communities.

Celebrating 60 Years of the Lakeview Community Association

It was a pleasure to join residents in celebrating the 60th anniversary of the Lakeview Community Association. This milestone is a testament to the generations of volunteers, community leaders, and residents who have helped make Lakeview one of Calgary's most vibrant and connected neighbourhoods.

For six decades, the association has played a vital role in bringing neighbours together, supporting local programs and events, and fostering a strong sense of community. The success of Lakeview is a reflection of the dedication and community spirit of those who have contributed their time and energy over the years.

Thank you to everyone who has helped shape the community's legacy, and to those who continue that work today. I was also pleased to celebrate alongside Mayor Jeromy Farkas and many proud residents. Congratulations to the Lakeview Community Association on this remarkable milestone, and best wishes for many more years of building community and creating connections.

In Community!

Great to visit the new Windsor Park School for its grand opening! The school currently serves K-3 students and will expand to K-4 next year - a great addition for families in Ward 11 and an important investment in our growing community.

I recently had the opportunity to tour the Calgary Rowing Club at the Glenmore Reservoir. It was great to learn more about the programs they offer and the important role they play in supporting recreation, sport, and community in Calgary.
