

Steps to planning an electrical project for rowhouse, townhouse, condo or apartment

Electrification project 888 888 ana Rowhouse/Townhouse Condo/Apartment Ფ) EV Charger Heat Pump Air Conditioning Energy Storage Electric Heat Level 2 No action needed Not for nothing to install Contact Registered Electrical Contractor Registered Electrical Contractor checks if existing service has capacity for additional load Existing service capacity cannot accommodate additional load Existing service capacity can accommodate additional load Registered electrical contractor considers following options Project cannot be Energy management Upgrade to implemented system electrical service Contact Enmax (getconnected@enmax.com) Registered Electrical Contractor fills in Electrical Advisory: Adding additional electrical load to rowhouse service. Once filled in, provides to homeowner. Do you have a condo board, building manager or landlord? No Condo board or building manager must sign copy of the Electrical Advisory, granting permission to add electrical load to service. Permission No granted permission * Please see Electrical Advisory: Adding additional electrical load to rowhouse service for the form that requires signatures. Investigate It is found at calgary.ca/buildingadvisory other options Contractor applies for permit